CANTON, MISSISSIPPI, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1839.

Announcing Cardidates for office will be Ten All Job Work must be paid for on delivery. Postage on letters must be paid, or they will not be attended to.

Woman's faith.

BY MISS I. E. LANDON. She loved you shen the sunny light Of bliss was on your brow; That blus has sunk in sorrow's night. And yet-she loves you now.

She loved you when your joyous tone Taught every heart to thrill; The sweetness of that tone is gone. And yet she loves you still.

She loved you when you proudly stept, The gavest of the gay; That pace the blight of time has swept,

Unlike her love away. She loved you when your home and heart Of fortune's smile could boast:

She saw that smile di cas -depart-And then she loved you most. Oh, such the generous faith that glows

In woman's gentle breast; 'Tis like that star that strays and glows Alone in night's dark vest.

That strays because each other ray, Has left the lonely shore; And that the wanderer on his way Then wants her light the more,

From the Salurda, Evening Post. The Friends.

Forget thee! in the banquet halls, Or now the tear that secret falls, If I forget thee then?

joyous excitement, attracted him not.—
The soft, half wanton whisper, and loader tone of festal mirth, were equally unheaded. A lade was a locally and the distance.

Vi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my own native State when I went up to him.

Wi-ws of scenery in my o er tone of festal mirth, were equally unheeded. A lady was called upon to tertain the company with music. I was delighted to see her set down to the barry —that loveliest of instruments in the mountains in the distance.

The other a lovely, picturesque landdearly—and for such a cause? Is there
sive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landsive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landdearly—and for such a cause? Is there
sive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landsive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landdearly—and for such a cause? Is there
sive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landsive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landsive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landdearly—and for such a cause? Is there
sive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landsive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landdearly—and for such a cause? Is there
sive prospect of the river gracefully

The other a lovely picturesque landseach other so long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so
long—loved each other so long—loved each othe She commenced a sweet and plaintive beauties of nature, and it was delightful unrelenting.

the evening; I exerted myself to appear at cards. to preven the mind from reverting upon I'll beat you." Edward smiled with conscious superiority at my bandiage, and produced the dance, but without effect.—"I will enjoy it more by looking on." said he, with a faint smile—"I am afraid," added he, "my dancing days are over." He sighed. I did not bear my victory ed. I raffied him about such a bachelor declaration in a fine-looking young tellow to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to whom the girls were waiting to be grant to make the girls were waiting to be grant to make the girls were waiting to be grant to make the girls were waiting to be grant to make the girls were waiting to the girls with burning characters on my profession. But as thalf hour, I should ere this have exchanged my sympathies with the Gall think, without improvement. It think, without improvement. It think, without pleasure. I think my members with the Gall think, without pleasure. I think any members with the Gall erie, far from the present scene and its es he had made of our own scenery; two youth—and considered the purpose of for thy s'eps is lighter than mine—haste.

for his former unsociability by striving silence, gazing upon the fire, that would gry reply that rose to my lips. began a gay conversation with a smiling. turb him. He turned abruptly-"s-," rosy-lipped little girl, he had not before said he, "have you not ob erved a condescended to notice; offered her his strange inconsistency of conduc about "The blow was deserved, sir; by your

The Madison Whig Advocate, urchisular every saterabay mosnino, ay the friend to introduce me. He immediately friend to introduce me. He immediately complied; and the stranger was introduced until all arrearages and five means the discontinued until all arrearages and single except at the option of the publishers. Ascreptant the option of the publishers are soon acquainted: especially where there is a congeniality of sentiment and a feeling; and it was not long before we follow the feeling; and it was not long before we feeling the feeling and it was not long before we feeling the feeling and it was not long be Advertisements which are not limited on the Bursh of the number of insertions, will some and then went on. "He called the first of the whirland the first of the first of the whirland the first of the fir manuscript, as to the number of insertions, will be continued until ordered out, and charged be continued until ordered out, and charged accordingly.

with information; his observations discontinued until ordered out, and charged a konwledge of the world, and, on an excellent offer to go to America, as creted myself to give one last look at My last hour will bring with it no gloom alast. I feel it to be true. Articles of a personal nature, whenever adliterary subjects a refined elegance of an agent for a very respectable house; the remains of my friend. But self preif lighted by one glim nering hope of a left in this will be made a left in this will be ma mitted, will be charged at the rate of Teo Dolmitted, will be charged at the taste. I was much pleased with him for fars for each insertion. Political circulars or public addresses, for the brain of individual persons or companies, will be charged as advertisements, and at the same be charged as advertisements, and at the same rates.

Answering Cardidates for office will be Ten a transient enthusiasin, I thought him friends, and set sail; we shared the same I have entered into scenes of high distance and ing berself, the old woman area and a set sail; one of the most captivating beings I had bed; we nursed each other; -- poor Ned sipation; I have made one of every festive me cold in my shroud. I could not hide classing the proof or have made one of every festive. ever beheld. But then there was that was uncommonly sea sick; we were as celebration of any importance; --but I the sorrows of which thou hast told me "Yes, she is my child, and long may the return of melancholly depression; and brothers "-His voice trembled and there never can forget my friend's last look -- life abounds, deserted and alone." Her spark of life he keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her keep alone is a life her keep alone in the life her ke when he had wrought up to an excitement on any favorite effusion of poetry

was a convulsive motion of his lip ment on any favorite effusion of poetry

was a convulsive motion of his lip ment on any favorite effusion of poetry

but I must get over this "He drew in the testal hour, the figure of Edward monds weighed down the dark fringes of years to come.

The absolute in the absolute in the lestal hour, the figure of Edward monds weighed down the dark fringes of years to come. or romance, his coun enance would settle down into an expression of exhaustion — get on with my story with more firmness and exhaustion — and the firmness and a repose of gloom, which seem'd natural -- I'm almost ashamed of myself S I hear h's last words; I behold him stif- for thee, innocent and dearly beloved thou will soon be lose in house the seem'd natural -- I'm almost ashamed of myself S for a moment; and I could perceive that ted game of cards, and I thought with no-I never shall forget him."

he possessed a keen sense of the rideuse some hing of boasting and elation 1 He stopped, and leaned his head on the "Shame, hild of my love, shame for "Of a truth" exclaimed his head on the lous and that at a time when his mind was knew nothing of the game, but for the table. been a most entertaining componion. I his vanity, and from a love of mischief, der at my deportment?" den grief that lay like an incubus on his and obtained a pretty good insight into continued.

thought he would feel an interest, and about the game, yet I lay you a wager subjects of which it was most fond, and faint hight of thy cabin window, which mean to hight thee on the second to be a seco self, and leeding on its own dark Edward smiled with conscious superi-to whom the girls were waiting to be gra- tering humor. Edward demanded an-At a lively pleasant party, towards the close of the fall of 18—, I was introducted to Charles N——. It was at the house of an intimate friend of minuscures of an intimate friend of minuscures.

At a lively pleasant party, towards the close of the fall of 18—, I was introducted to Charles N——. It was at the house of an intimate friend of minuscures. It was at the house of an intimate friend of minuscures. We have the content of the fall of the fal house of an intimate friend of mine some limited distance out of town. We had a greed to wark home. He took my acm, ball in the evening, and I recollect were uncommonly gay. I never was in better spirits than in moving through a cotillion with the pretty Miss T——; we both betrayed our ignorance of one part of the figure. There is something very agreeable, at times, in these mutual missage and each one appeared to takes. When we had set down after the tokes. When we had set down after the tokes and attachments; but as I perceivation as I perceivation agreeable, and I recollect were agreed to wark home. He took my acm, agree to wark home. He took my acm, agreed to wark home. He took my acm, agreed to wark home. He took my acm, agree to wark home. He took my acm, agree to to wark home. He took my acm, agree to to wark home. He took my acm, agree to the took my acm, agree to the variety of the view of deeply occupied in the game to observe his countenance; and in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his present state of mind. I took out in his presen first cotillion, my wandering attention ed it occasioned some painful emotion on was astonished; and replied in what I was arrested by a young gentleman his part, I began to chat about the beauty thought a conciliating tone. But it was whose entrance I had not observed. He of the evening, and the pretty hady who only adding fuel to the finne. He rewas apparently about twenty-seven years had listened to his honeyed flatteries, peated his charges with vehement rapidof age; his figure was thin, but fine; his features were regular, his eye dark and expressive, and but for the gloom that rested on his pale countenance when I first beheld him, I should have called him and playful satire; sometimes he was gay, him eminently handsome. But in that him eminently handsome. But in that reserved-moody, and. On all occasions present conduct. He rushed across the gloom there was so much of mental suf- he was unequal, and restless and fitful table, almost overturning it, and aimed a fering, and so much of absolute wretch in his mirth. His vivacity would be blow at my face. I received it on my I saw him but twice afterwards. He ensuch a shade of settled despair; that you depth of gloom; and his laugh would subbecame uneasy while you contemplated side into an indiscribable expression of so, breathing threats of vengeance against it, and turned away as an inspirer of internal suffering. There was a sadness me. As I expected, a challenge was painful thoughts. I felt the melancholly that could not be removed; and there was handed me that night; and, I must conto be contagious, and began to chat and clearly remorse in it. I could perceive less, that I felt so indignant at his behav-laugh with a group near me to draw off this in his start; his secret shudder, almy attention from that gloomy brow and most imperceptible in his troubled eve; I arranged my papers, disposed of the compressed and sunken lip; but in vain. the slight perspiration on his fine manly little property I had, and wrote a letter My eyes involuntarily returned, as under the influence of fascination; and even while I talked with some appearance of keener glance and a whetted beak. Still and I endeavored to prepare my mind carnestness to the lady who sat next to be was auxious to amuse; and would open for a fatal result. I had no experience have a blaze this dark some night," said me, I could not avoid giving a steal by his port toho of engravings, some of with the pistol; having only fired a few glance at the young stranger. There which were beautifully executed He times in my life, at a mark, in sport. I cloak tighter round her throat, and gazhe sat as I first remarked hum-near a would describe such of the scenes as he requested a friend to act as my second, ed anxiously from the broken win tow of window, and somewhat retired from the had himself visited, and would now and appeared on the ground a little berest of the company; his head rested on then forget his griefs over some wild and fore the appointed time. Edward was fines of Solingen. "The storm still it. The rain dashed in fary against the try, then are the storm still it. The rain dashed in fary against the try, then are the storm still it. The rain dashed in fary against the try, then are the storm still it. his hand, which he now and then passed beautiful landscape of Switzerland or not yet there. He shortly arrived, acthrough his rich, dark hair—from habit as it were, for he was evidently in a row.

as it were, for he was evidently in a row.

as it were, for he was evidently in a row.

Blanche. Spread the cloth for our meal, the a partment. as it were, for he was evidently in a reving, and shewed me a number of sketch- inv old school fellow—the friend of my Blanche. Spread the cloth for our meal, have given you.'

influence of time, and the solace of home. gracefully declined by the commanding read his bicoscope to the way, and friends most dear to the wouth, who still continued to fix his embedded heart. He sighed, and wrung barrassing gaze upon her sylph-like futurity at a prescribed home.

I bade him good night, and departed. meetings in the forest," took leave of him on board the "Achilles," thy long exposure !"

From the Corsair. The Scottish Orphan.

"Pile the faggots, Felix, and let us Mother Pauline, as she drew her crimson tempest, which every moment seemed to be bearn the success of the first land with ceptable to the lovely creature who was hanging to his arm, nor to those who joined her for a share of the handsome young gentleman's conversation. This months since Edward G—— and months since Edwa to it, and the necessary reaction of an We arrived safely in Bultimore, the fening in death. He is with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of fulness of the shock of this rule with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of fulness of the shock of this rule with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of fulness of the shock of this rule with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of fulness of the shock of this rule with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of fulness of the shock of this rule with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of fulness of the shock of this rule with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of fulness of the shock of this rule with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of fulness of the shock of this rule with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of fulness of the shock of this rule with me when child, if thou keepest in the path of the shock of this rule with the path of the shock of unusual excitement: then by a paintal place of our destination; and like most afone; he is with me in my dream; I fly to maidenly honor, never forgetting - " The fair girl rose from her known and like most afone; he is with me in my dream; I fly to maidenly honor, never forgetting - " effort he would endeavor to keep up his other young men in the beyday of life, share of the spirit of the conversation, and like most other young men in the beyday of life, share of the spirit of the conversation, mingled occasionally in scenes of dissipand beam forth with some britishin stroke ation. Edward had often spoken of his —I cannot fly from myself, and his interesting to the spirit of the conversation.

The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation. The spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to the spirit of the conversation is a sold to t of wit or lively surcasm, and be morthful skill in a difficult and som-what antiqua- age is a portion of my being-no-no- sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with fright into of Dian, withdrew to the second was a sent Blanche headlong with the second was a sent Blanch thy terror-stricken nature, sucked from as he watched with admiration her too "You - he is now in pronounce of freer and his heart calmer, he must have purpose of tormenting him a little for "Now," said he, "now can you won- the breast of the Saxon mother. Rise treating form, "the daughter has the action of the saxon mother." up instantly, and let me see who it is of a Queen, and becate enough to all "Possession" and and the beat and was convinced that there was some hid- I resolved to apply myself secretly to it. I was too much affected to reply. He that requires shelter or counsel at this tract all the Court gallants of Variation and the country of the court gallants of Variation and the court gallants of Var rude hour." Seizing the lamp in her thy abode."

beauty. "Farewell," said he, "come and see "By St. Mark," he exclaimed, turning by to her desolate about. me often. Do not wait for the ceremony to Pauline, "this is indeed an unexpected." "Thou hast held the promine second." of a return of visits. Between you and novelty. I thought thy life was utterly my Lord," she said, "better than I do. I that ceremony may now, I think, be desolate. Thou hast never mentioned culamicipate. The night after that there thy fair daughter to me in our solitary at our last meeting. I watched long and thence he was to return to his native exciting interest to discuss than aught rose on my aged vision and an house the account to land. By this time I hope he is with his that pertained to my humble abode, before" > knowest good cheer can be procured for left us was those own child?" horse and guest. I must be back at the Castle before midnight unless this wild smilingly replied the assured ascense. storm prevent." His voice now became "but three days since, and the contract." "Peace in and then a absolutely lost in the violence of the asm was only equalled by the imparison of the lands. The transfer are the same and the same are the same and the same are be gaining strength, and threatening to the lovely Lady Bonoria, whose radius and are all the same and the sa annihilate the old cabin that now recled smite has wearing there at the castle, and suppose the land to the terms.

hilarity. The bright eyes of beautiful women, sparkling with animation and love the cars were in my own native State of senery in my own native State of senergy in m off a fine voice and a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a fine arm so well a my hard a fine arm so well.—

She commenced a my hard a my hard a fine arm so well a my hard a rude dark home." Here a sigh escaped well as elsewhere, there is an ancient those cliffs, overlanging the screen, in these two lifes, overlanging the screen, in the screen was a screen with the screen was a screen with the screen was a screen wa "Sir," said he, coldly, "If you choose the gentle girl as she bent over the ruin near by, where a rough but safe re-I was fond of when a boy. The deep swell of music appeared to have a powerful effect upon the young strang r.—
He started from his reverue—roused himself, and seemed determined to an acquaintance had continued to a policy, and let the business go no further."

"Sir," said he, coldly, "If you choose the garl as she bent over the small Gaelic instrument she held in her hand. The severed string was so in replaced by another, and Blanche flitted applicable to the gale, not a small Gaelic instrument she held in her hand. The severed string was so in replaced by another, and Blanche flitted applicable to the gale, not a small Gaelic instrument she held in her hand. The severed string was so in replaced by another, and Blanche flitted and I will remain, and abide our face from the room.

Folding her arms across her heast. and I will remain, and abide our fate fered for many years from the offset, of took place between them one water self, and seemed determined to make up been called; and we sat for some time in I felt provoked, but kept down the anry at the window. "Lord Leven will and at this moment sunk on her knees scarce abide his promise, unless his cusudcen change in an individual. I would subside, in playful wantonness as it were. scarcely have recognized him, so alter ed was his courted with an individual opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside, in playful wantonness as it were. pardon for that outruge, I will willingly ed was his courted with an individual opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside, in playful wantonness as it were. pardon for that outruge, I will willingly ed was his courted with an individual opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside, in playful wantonness as it were. pardon for that outruge, I will willingly ed was his courted with an individual opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside, in playful wantonness as it were. pardon for that outruge, I will willingly ed was his courted with a subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and then insulted me—struck me—if you will ask subside opinto a bright name and the mean of the subside opinto a bright name and the mean opi ed was his countenance and manner. He ries; and I did not feel inclined to disas this. The storm must drift past before midnight, and the moon will direct never sleeps," continued the latter, as the spirit, which visided at last to ur his course to our buried cabin among she laid her withered hand upon those powerful, but of times according to the laid her withered hand upon those powerful, but of times according to the laid her withered hand upon those powerful. She was my honored maken fair harper. I observed him. It appeared to me that his high gaiety was unnatural—unhealthy—orced. It was not the free flow of heart-felt over the fire flow of heart-felt over the flow of heart-felt over the flow of heart-felt over the fire flow of heart-felt over the flow of heart-felt over th appeared the more so to me from conpassed his hand over his brow. "Where yet I cannot make up my mind the aged servant-man, with whose astrasting it with the gloomy expression that first caught my notice. His deport- mind diseased,—pluck from the heart a ment was not ment and mand over his orow. Where the frugal repast was soon preton to fire at my old companion." sistance the frugal repast was soon preton to fire at my old companion." sistance the frugal repast was soon preton to fire at my old companion." pared, and both nurse and maiden were pared in medicine that can minister to a pared in mand over his order. ment was now elegan and graceful; and his attentions were by no means unactions were by no means unactions and his eye was filling.

"IIII and believe the mind diseased,—pluck from the heart a turning to his second, "I believe the man's afraid."

"IIII and believe the mind diseased,—pluck from the heart a turning to his second, "I believe the man's afraid."

Tears country that he heart a turning to his second, "I believe the man's afraid." in dismal cadence without, and the an- unresisting emotion over the object of tress," continued Passine, "I was a second of tress, "I was a second o soul, and shut out all enjoyment. I felt the game without his knowing any thing a powerful sympathy for him—a desire of the matter; one evening we were sit. to alleviate his melancholty -not unmin- ting toge her with some acquaintances thing. I feel an unwillingness to en- moment's examination, admitted a tragled with a curiosity as to the cause. I we had picked up, and to Edward's surkept near him during the remainder of prise, I defied him to his favorite game take a morbid satisfaction in resigning tary coat, richly trimmed with sable. myself with perfect inertness to the va- "Pardon my bold in russon, good Pars the massy choose the dark how as my way The hard hard been as a more way." cheerful; I endeavored to lead him into conversations on topics in which I boasting of your skill. I know but little with which it has been most familiar. I has kept me in dubious perplexity for the sel " Here she examined the door so troubge, which were allowed by am in a mental lethargy. My mind has last half hour, I should ere this have ex- the sleeping come as if to ascertain of the purpose of all the same of the same of next packet."

I whispered something of the soothing influence of time, and the solace of home.

gracefully declined by the commanding read his becomes and as the way, and his becomes a the way, and his becomes family, and happier than he was when I What wilt thou have to cheer thee after -Pardon my interpretion, good Pan. line, but before those readest up descript. of the world, and promised but Square "Nothing, good woman; 'tis scarce an let me ask thee one question; did at thou hour since I left Dassel, where thou tell use the fair creature that has pur-night which promoted his ardeut curion.

Place pasted, undertakenen al. the may

Sugar upon tion, acres for sec-